Crescit Eundo

"Crescit Eundo", the motto of the State of New Mexico, may serve to define the spirit of Silver High School as well, for it means "we grow as we go."

The growth of which we speak is not a physical one, necessarily, but more along intangible lines. Growth has many facets, it takes many forms and it appears in many ways. We, as people, grow academically, socially, and individually. These types of growth make us the persons we are.

We are presented with the opportunity to enrich our lives, broaden our perspectives, widen our horizons and enlarge our capacity for true wisdom through our academic experiences.

We are presented with the opportunity to widen our understanding of people, sharpen our awareness of the world, and increase our ability to lead and follow; thereby strengthening our character through the activities we experience.

We are presented with the opportunity to be part of a team and know the meaning of esprit de corps. We are able to contribute to the success and growth of such teams by pooling our individual talents.

Those around us can give only so much, as our true growth as individuals depends on our own initiative, for in the words of Gibran, "No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge . . . for the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man."

Growth Aided By Language Arts

Communication is a vital part of growth. As one grows older, he should be able to express his thoughts to others. The teachers of English promote the betterment of human communication.

We are encouraged to read the written word and to transmit our ideas and interpretations to others. We are also urged to write, that those not in the realm of our voices might listen and understand.

Communication is the basis of a successful life, for everything that is to be expressed must be communicated in one way or another.

In the shop, home ec. room, driver ed. class and gymnasium, students are enabled to grow independently by cultivating their own talents in woodwork, homemaking efforts, driving habits and physical abilities.

Through training in these areas, the student becomes more easily adaptable to his own world.

ADOLPHO MOREIRA COTTA
American Field Service Student from Sete Lagoas, Brazil

Almost one year has gone since I left Rio de Janeiro in a dark night of August. I still remember when I watched the city with its lights far, far away and then gone.

Rivers from different fountains get together and create a bigger river. We American Field Service students believe that a better understanding among people is possible. This understanding goes to an Ocean of Peace and Friendship among Nations.

Now I will return to my Country. Before I see those lights of Rio de Janeiro again I will see the lights of Silver City far, far ways, but never gone. Like these friends they always will be remembered.

BADGES OF DISTINCTION

A cap, a gown and a diploma . . . badges of distinction for the hard-working graduate. These ingredients can open the door to a promising new world and let the wise graduate take another step toward building a secure future.

Planning for the future means success.

At Kennecott's Chino Mines Division, planning requires trained people to put into effect the ever-changing procedures of an ever-changing world. Such planning assures continued success for Kennecott's operations.

To the people of New Mexico, Kennecott's success means the prospect of continued benefits, some of which help support the state's educational system.

The badges of distinction are held by this year's graduate. He will be the one to help Kennecott, society and himself build a better world.
